This is your standing invitation to visit one of NANFA's newest active regions, and the largest one east of the Mississippi River. With over 250 known freshwater fishes, Georgia ranks near the top of the diversity lists.

Whether you live in Georgia, or just find yourself passing through, we encourage you to call, write, or email to find out what we're doing. Below, you'll find links to past collecting trips with text reports and photos.

Although there is no definitive book of GA fishes yet, I have compiled (with the help of experts) a checklist of GA fishes. Feel free to make use of it to narrow your search for freshwater fishes in GA.
